PRODUCT OVERVIEW

Cyber

Specialist cover to help businesses manage digital risk and operational disruption.

Cyber risk is often viewed as a technology issue, but for many businesses the greater concern is the operational and financial disruption that follows an incident.

Whether caused by ransomware, a phishing attack, a data breach or a system outage, cyber events can interrupt trading, impact customer relationships and create significant recovery costs. As organisations become increasingly reliant on digital systems, the potential consequences of a cyber incident are no longer limited to large corporates. SMEs face many of the same exposures, often with fewer resources available to respond.

Omnyy's Cyber Insurance is designed to help businesses manage these evolving risks through a combination of financial protection and specialist incident response support, helping businesses respond quickly and minimise operational disruption.

Cover

- Limits available from £25,000 to £250,000, reflecting a client's size, risk profile and reliance on technology
- Protection against cyber crime
- Data breaches
- Privacy liabilities
- Business interruption
- Associated recovery costs
- Specialist incident response support

Cyber cover to support your clients

As cyber threats continue to evolve, the question for many businesses is no longer whether an incident is possible, but whether they have the resilience and support required to respond effectively should one occur.

Cyber Insurance provides access not only to financial protection, but also to specialist expertise at a time when organisations may be dealing with operational disruption, regulatory considerations and customer impact simultaneously.
